The round metal gong of the Cordillera known locally as "gangsa" is a symbol of the upland people's culture that has been passed on from generations to another.

The profile of a person blowing a "tangayush" represents a community home called for an important matter or action.

The Gags that shape the mountains, the rice terraces, clouds and rivers represent the connectivity and flow of human-enteral system processes within area such as the Cordillera.

All the symbols combined represent unity and harmony of its people with culture and environment in beating the gong for self-determination.
